INDUSTRIAL ENGINEERS

THIS year's class of graduating industrial engineers is the largest in history. The activities and interests of the men are many and varied. Some of these men will enter industries who have already cut their expenses to the bone; it will be the job of the industrial engineers to further cut these expenses and to eliminate waste without hurting quality. They face a difficult task and we wish them plenty of luck and know that they will come out on top.

The first graduating senior to discuss seems to be ROBERT E. KELLER from Marshallville, Ohio. We've been searching through maps and even almanacs trying to locate Bob's hometown but met with no success. However, we did learn that Bob is very well liked at home just as he is on the campus. "Kel," as he is known at the Triangle fraternity house, has just completed a busy year as business manager of THE ENGINEER.

Without a doubt the biggest man in the class is ROBERT E. PARISH. Bob is six feet seven inches tall and that, in itself, makes him very upstanding. Bob comes all the way from Oneonta, N. Y. "Tiny" will leave behind him an enviable record as a chorus (beef trust) girl. He was very active in Quadrangle Jesters. Although his brawn may have had something to do with it, he claims that it was his super salesman-ship that made him the ace ticket seller.

The next senior should be discussed in the same breath with another. He is CLAUDE W. CASTLE and the other is, of course, his twin brother, CLYDE N. CASTLE. These men are from Swanton, Ohio. As can be easily imagined, the twins have caused professors plenty of grief. They claim that they never perfected a system whereby one would study half the courses and take the exams while the other took care of the other courses. Anyway, it sounds good.

ADEN F. HUBER, JR., is from DeGraff, Ohio. Despite his small stature (he is known as small but mighty) he is another lad who is a big-shot at home.

PAUL F. JOSEPH is well known as the Pember-ville flash. He is a member of Tau Beta Pi. Paul spent most of his evenings while on the inspection trip at the night spots impressing (?) whoever was within shouting distance. Much to the disgust of some of the less talkative boys it turned out later that one of his so made contacts may prove very beneficial.

JOHN STAIR is from Delaware. When he isn't busy drawing up time study sheets he spends his time in Brown Hall in the capacity of assistant instructor in drawing. Johnnie is an A. T. O. and was, last year, president of S. S. I. E.

Cleveland is the hometown of STEPHEN J. GINAL. Steve had just a little trouble with E. E. 643. Aside from the time spent on that and Beulah Park, he found time to dance in Quad Jesters chorus last year and to handle the athletic affairs of S. S. I. E.

THOMAS W. LLOYD is well known for his wild tales of happenings on the Ohio River. He claims that since he has lived in Portsmouth all his life he is well qualified to tell such stories. Tom, for some reason which we were unable to learn, acquired the nickname “Doc” while on the inspection trip.

CLEMENT McELROY claims Columbus as his home. He is a Sigma Nu but would not discuss at any length the egg fights which occurred in his neighborhood lately. Clem spends most of his spare time working at a gas station. He was stage manager for Quad Jesters’ last show and remained calm even after a shower of cabbages partially wrecked some of his scenery.

HOWARD W. STEVENS (better known as “Colonel”) is from Mentor. Colonel holds that position in the R. C. T. C. He attributes his good grades to the fact that his wife made him stay home at night and study.

ROBERT BEHN says that the most difficult thing he encountered in his four years in school was his roommate. Bob is a Sigma Chi and also a member of Tau Beta Pi. Bob said he thought all his courses were easy until he ran up against 624 accounting. European wars don’t bother him because he has too much to do just parading Wednesday afternoon.

ROBERT HATTON, sometimes called the shadow of Bill Gall, has finally given up his frequent trips to Westerville. Bob is a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon and is on the varsity golf team. After spending a year at Ohio Wesleyan he decided that he wasn’t far enough away from his home in Akron and so came here to school. Bob plans to work for Goodyear.

WARREN STOCK claims that his pretzel pipe is a family heirloom which was originally won in a bingo game in Canton. Warry has made a name for himself in the University Chess Club.

WILLIAM T. GALL lives at the A. T. O. house when he isn’t at home in Huron. Bill asserted that sleeping in classes has always prevented him from becoming confused by lectures. Bill, it was learned from reliable sources, is very well thought of in social circles.

HERMAN R. VERWOHLT came to school from St. Clairsville. He is the well known figure whose likeness appears frequently on I. E. blackboards. It has been suggested that his publicity agent was his fraternity brother, John Stair.

JAMES T. GATES has been practicing salesman ship while in school. With his southern accent (acquired in Charleston, W. Va.) he has managed to sell plenty of flowers. He is considered by his wife to be the modern Adonis.

JOHN E. ZIRKLE, from Defiance, is often seen wandering or wondering in a maze of wires in the E. E. department. After five years of college he has decided that a slide rule is a means of identification between a commerce student and an engineer.

JAMES W. GASTON, well known to the industrials as “Quiet Jim,” has succeeded in making a good scholastic record. Due to the fact that he is a Columbus resident, he has kept his fellow seniors well informed on about-town affairs.
