PRESIDENT'S PAGE

George H. Colvin

I am pleased to announce that the Society’s new website (www.OhioArch.org) is up and running. I would like to point out just a few of the features of the new website. You can now easily renew your membership and purchase books and past journals online. You can do this by either credit card, a PayPal account, check, or money order. To assist new members or existing members in locating a Chapter to join, we have included an interactive map showing chapter locations and a table of chapter information. Chapters are encouraged to submit a schedule of events and an e-mail contact to be included on the website. The “Meetings” page includes information on State and Summer Meetings, award categories and rules, and pictures of State Meeting award winners. The “Ohio Archaeology” page includes a simplified guide to identifying Ohio flint types. The new website also allows you to donate to the society online. You can now support the ASO in a number of ways including a bequest or other planned giving mechanism, a donation in a loved one’s honor, or simply a one-time donation to support the society. I invite all of you to visit and make use of the new website. Your officers and trustees are now only a click away, so let us know what you think.

Finally, make sure to attend a state sponsored Summer Meeting this year and bring a friend. For information on the Summer Meetings, see the new website or the postcard you received in May.

Sincerely,

George H. Colvin

Front Cover: Ohio pipes in the British Museum. Top, two views of animal effigy pipe from the Squier and Davis Collection. Bottom, pipe from Ross County, Ohio. Although these pipes are listed as being made of chlorite, the material is probably black steatite. Such pipes are often called “great pipes” and are generally thought of as having been created in the southern Kentucky-Tennessee area and exported to Ohio. British Museum catalog entry is shown below. Pipes pictured with the courtesy of the Trustees of the British Museum and may not be reproduced without their express permission.
