Table of Contents (Volume 72, Number 6, 2011)
OHIO STATE LAW JOURNAL

Volume 72, Number 6, 2011

SYMPOSIUM:
Reflections on Progressive Constitutionalism: Theory, Practice and Critique

Foreword
Progressive Constitutionalism Considered
Marc Spindelman ................................................................. 1069

Keynote Address
Progressive Constitutionalism: What Is “It”?
Mark Tushnet ............................................................................. 1073

Articles
Progressive Constitutionalism and Alternative Movements in Law
Amy J. Cohen & Michal Alberstein ........................................... 1083

The Distributive Constitution and Workers’ Rights
William E. Forbath ................................................................. 1115

The Contradictions of Progressive Constitutionalism
Alex Gourevitch .................................................................... 1159

How Constitutional Theory Matters
Jamal Greene ........................................................................... 1183

Hertz or Avis? Progressives’ Quest to Reclaim the Constitution and the Courts
Simon Lazarus ........................................................................ 1201

Progressive Constitutionalism, Originalism, and the Significance of Landmark Decisions in Evaluating Constitutional Theory
William P. Marshall ............................................................... 1251

The Causes of Progressive Stagnation
Saikrishna Prakash ................................................................. 1277

Rediscovering the Progressive Era
Elizabeth Sanders .................................................................. 1281
Should Progressive Constitutionalism Embrace Popular Constitutionalism?
Melissa Schwartzberg

House Rule XII: Congress and the Constitution
Marc Spindelman

Toward the Study of the Legislated Constitution
Robin West

Democratic Constitutionalism and the Affordable Care Act
Rebecca E. Zietlow