Executive Committee Notes for June 14

- Strategic Planning Proposal
  Jaggars shared a preliminary proposal for DeEtta Jones to provide consulting and facilitation services during OSUL's upcoming strategic planning process. Batts will schedule a follow-up call with DeEtta to share specific feedback.
- Information Architecture Update
  Warner shared information on the information architecture consultant to help with the first step in the web environment redesign process. Warner will work with Patton-Glinski to draft RFPs so that we can consider official proposals.
- Marketing Consultant Update
  Patton-Glinski is in the process of developing an RFP for the marketing consultant.
- CTSSC Name Change
  Exec reviewed and approved a proposal to change the name of the Collection, Technical Services and Scholarly Communication Division to the Content & Access Division.

Executive Committee Notes for June 7

- DuraSpace
  OSUL's participation in DuraSpace and Fedora was evaluated. A decision was made to increase our investment on the Fedora project to get us to platinum level supporter and maintain our investment in DSpace. This level of investment will allow OSUL to have a spot on the Fedora leadership committee.
- Protecting Institutional Data Course
  Exec discussed the new Protecting Institutional Data Course that is available in BuckeyeLearn. This training is required for colleagues who deal with restricted data. A list of employees required to take the training is being compiled and all OSUL employees who need to complete the online training will be contacted. There are also some additional security training modules that will be available soon. All OSUL employees are encouraged to take the training.
- Research Data in the Library Task Force
  Armstrong shared a draft charge for the new Research Data in the Library Task Force. The charge was approved.
- Position Discussion
  The following positions were approved to be filled:
  o Middle East Studies Librarian
  o Exhibits Coordinator
  o Records Manager
  o Japanese Cataloger

- Head of Fine Arts Library, Search Committee
  Exec reviewed the volunteers for the Head of Fine Arts search committee. Damon will send the confirmation to the selected committee.

Teaching and Learning is Seeking Instructors for First-Year Success Series Workshops

Are you interested in getting hands-on experience with fun, interactive library instruction? How about helping first-year students make the transition to college? You can do both by leading one or more of our highly rated First-Year Success Series workshops this fall. We will offer multiple sessions of each workshop between September 12 and November 10. We seek volunteer instructors for the following workshops:

"So much more than books! University Libraries can make your life easier"
In this interactive one-hour session, you will introduce students to library resources and services that can save them time and help them get better grades. (Session capacity is 60 students.)

- Learning Outcomes:
  - o Students will learn to differentiate between specific information types and recognize that different search strategies are required to find them.
  - o Students will engage with library products and services in order to build a personalized support system for success at Ohio State.

"What's in a question? Developing research questions from The Other Wes Moore"
In this interactive 80-minute session, students will form teams and work together to create focused research questions based on themes from The Other Wes Moore, the Buckeye Book Community book for 2016. (Session capacity is 25 students.)

- Learning Outcomes:
  - o Students will develop a research question based on the themes in The Other Wes Moore.
  - o Students will use library resources to find data and background information to refine their research question.

"Where's Woody? Find Woody Hayes in Thompson Library"
Where's Woody is an interactive game in which teams complete tasks and follow clues to locate Woody Hayes (in life-sized-cut-out form) in Thompson Library. In this 90-minute session, teams compete for prizes and learn about great library resources and services along the way. (Session capacity is 25 students.)

- Learning Outcomes:
  - o Students will engage with library products and services in order to build a personalized support system for success at Ohio State.
  - o Students will become familiar with the Libraries' exhibits and special collections.

If you are interested in being an instructor of any of these workshops or just want to learn more, contact Chris Younkin, First-Year Instruction Assistant at younkin.15@osu.edu or 688-2585 by August 5.

Major net.TUTOR revision in the works for Fall 2016

The Teaching & Learning department is producing a major update to net.TUTOR, our online tutorial series for information literacy skills. Titled "Choosing and Using Sources," the new version will launch in Fall 2016; the old net.TUTOR will be retired in early 2017 to allow time for adoption of the new format. View a working draft of the full-text content <https://osu.box.com/v/choosingsources> for the proposed changes.

If you would like to discuss these changes and how they could affect your teaching or suggest additions to the new content, please contact Robyn Ness <ness.16@osu.edu> to schedule a meeting with the team.

Call for Search Committee Members

If you are interested in serving on the search committee for the Middle East and Islamic Studies Librarian, please email Quanetta at batts.8@osu.edu by July 29.

Please remember that although search committees are composed primarily of members of the faculty, we are looking for staff member representation on these committees as well.

Student Campus Job Fair August 24

The University Libraries HR team will attend the 2016 Campus Job Fair on August 24 from 12 – 4 p.m. in the Ohio Union Archie Griffin Ballroom. If you have a student position (Federal Work Study or General Funds) that you would like advertised or updated, please email the information to Randall McKenzie (mckenzie.87@osu.edu), by August 15 and we will include the details in the promotional materials. We also have a limited number of openings for supervisors to be present at our table to recruit and conduct on-site interviews. If interested in this opportunity, email Randall with your availability and we will accommodate requests until openings are full.

Hire HRA Process Change

Beginning Monday, August 1, the HR Service Center will require submission of individual hire requests (one request per new employee) for all student hires.
This HRA process change will result in:

- Substantial hire process turnaround time reduction
- Email communication improvements from the service center to supervisors regarding new hires' progress,

- Optimal search functionality to locate hire requests
- Increase in the ease of monitoring new hires' progression (comments specific to each hire's progress)

The multiple checkbox option may still be used for student terminations, pay rate changes and data changes.

Upcoming student employment dates

- August 3: Last day students who graduated Spring semester can work in student employment. Please remember to submit a termination HR Action request at end of employment.
- August 21: First day students can work with FWS funding for Autumn semester. Please remember to submit a hire HR Action request with a completed FWS Referral Form to initiate FWS funding changes.

You can view additional student employment dates throughout the year at https://library.osu.edu/document-registry/docs/687.

ARL webcast series
Wednesday, August 17, 1-1:45 p.m.
Thompson Library, Room 150 A & B
Topic – Affordable Course Content and Open Educational Resources
The webcast will review survey findings reported by ARL member libraries in March 2016. The survey authors will:
- provide a snapshot of initiatives and strategies in support of affordable course content by ARL member libraries and their institutions;
- show examples of noteworthy services and resources; and
- discuss the future role of libraries supporting affordable course content in general and within the Association in particular.

Managing Student Employee Appointments Supervisor Workshop
Libraries Human Resources and the OAA HR Service Center will host a Managing Student Employee Appointments Workshop on Thursday, August 4 from 2:30 - 4:30 p.m. in Thompson Library, Room 165. This is a great opportunity to learn more about recruiting student employees and the hiring process. Topics to be covered include:

- Creating a new student position
- What is Federal Work Study?
- How to advertise student positions
- Conducting interviews and job offers
- How to navigate the HR Action system
- Steps students must take to complete the hire process
- Supervisor timesheet responsibilities
- and more!

For questions and to reserve your spot, please contact Randall McKenzie at mckenzie.87@osu.edu.

Jobs

Applications Developer – Research Commons

The new and innovative University Libraries Research Commons (library.osu.edu/researchcommons) is on a mission to provide services and support to faculty and graduate student researchers at Ohio State. We need a creative, service-oriented developer like you to join our IT team to solve technical problems for researchers in a wide range of disciplines, including the digital arts and humanities. It's a great opportunity to work in a beautiful new facility, using the latest technologies available in the rapidly growing field of digital scholarship, at one of the top academic research libraries in the country. Projects may involve the use of large data sets, geographic information systems (GIS), text mining, qualitative analysis, and information visualization and modeling.

Here's primarily what you'll be doing:
• Consult with faculty and graduate students on their research projects, identify functional and technical needs, and propose and implement technical solutions;
• Write ad-hoc scripts, code applications, design databases, create visualizations, and perform analyses as deliverables to the researcher;

• Research, experiment with, and recommend new technologies, resources, and data sources for digital research projects.

The Libraries is committed to recruiting and retaining diverse workforce and encourages all employees to fully incorporate their diverse backgrounds, skills, and life experiences into their work and towards the Libraries' mission. We value work/life balance. You will have opportunities for remote work, and on-call time is limited.

Travel reimbursement and relocation assistance will not be offered with this position. This is a two-year term position with possible renewal and with eligibility for the full Ohio State benefits package.

Key Responsibilities:

In partnership with colleagues in the Research Commons, the developer will provide consultation to Ohio State faculty and graduate researchers in exploring technical solutions to support their research agendas in diverse subject areas, including the digital arts and humanities. The developer will assist in gathering functional and technical requirements, defining scope, documenting and prioritizing tasks, and estimating the feasibility of and timelines for the completion of projects. To implement solutions, the developer will be expected to write ad-hoc scripts, code applications, create visualizations, and perform analyses in available software. Research projects may involve the use of large data sets, geographic information systems (GIS), text mining, qualitative analysis, information visualization and modeling, and websites/online exhibits. The developer will also explore, evaluate, and recommend new and alternative technologies, resources, and data sources to researchers.

Supervision and Essential Duties:

• May supervise student employees

On Call Support:

• Applications/systems are assigned primary and secondary developers who are expected to respond to critical incidents during off-hours. These incidents are very rare. Our weekly scheduled maintenance window is 5:00 pm to 6:00 pm on Thursdays.

Required qualifications:

• Bachelor's degree in computer science, management information science, or engineering, OR o Master's degree in library science, OR o an equivalent combination of education and experience;

o 1+ years of programming experience (ex. Java, Ruby, PHP, Python, Perl);

o 1+ years of experience working with relational and/or noSQL databases;

o Demonstrated experience working with APIs;

o Demonstrated experience with one or more of the following activities/tools:

o GIS (ex. ArcGIS, CartoDB)

o Textual analysis (ex. RStudio, Mallet)

o Dissemination (ex. Omeka, Scalar)

o Data visualization (ex. Gephi, Tableau)

o Large dataset management.

Desired qualifications:

• Experience using a version control system, preferably git;

• Experience working with faculty in higher education, a research lab, or other academic research setting;

• Project management experience;

• Familiarity with the values and practices of agile software development.

Please apply online at https://www.jobsatosu.com/postings/71924 from July 23, 2016 through August 7, 2016.

Head, Fine Arts Library

In an academic environment where the arts are increasingly dynamic, evolving and relevant, the Head of the Fine Arts Library leads efforts to connect the Libraries' art and design collections and research services to a multifaceted faculty, student body and community. The Head will oversee the Fine Arts Library, develop its collections and promote engagement with the arts and design disciplines at the University, and specifically support digital scholarship in art and design in collaboration with other units and visual arts leaders in the campus community and in the Columbus area. The Head will engage deeply with University efforts to strengthen the Arts District, including the Wexner Center for the Arts, Hopkins Hall Gallery, ACCAD (Advanced Computer Center for the Arts and Design), and the Billy Ireland Cartoon Library and Museum and its strategy to grow support of the visual and performing arts through its Arts Initiative. The Head will also identify opportunities for deeper library engagement with both digital and traditional fine arts scholarship, exhibitions, and projects, and will be the Libraries' leader in creating a wide-ranging support agenda for digital and fine arts research and scholarship across the University.

Management and Supervision
• Provide vision and manage an efficient and effective department library through planning, leadership, assessment, review of physical plant, and effective delegation.
• Provide direct supervision of two staff positions: assign job responsibilities, coach and mentor, conduct performance evaluations, and facilitate staff development and training opportunities.
• Work closely with other Research and Education department heads to move forward an ambitious agenda for the entire Division.

Engaged Librarian
• Actively engage and communicate effectively with faculty, students, and staff in assigned areas of Art; Arts Administration Education & Policy; Design; and History of Art, to develop strong working relationships.
• Understand a range of library issues, including scholarly communication, digital initiatives, the development of new online tools, copyright, data management, and the integration of information literacy skills into the curriculum.
• Analyze trends in departmental teaching and research programs, stay abreast of scholarship in the disciplines themselves, and use this knowledge to anticipate users' research and information needs to develop, refine, assess, and sustain research and information services and programs in all formats.
• Champion the library as an intellectual meeting place for programming, content, and inquiry.
Collections
• Strategically select material in all formats to serve the current and future research, teaching, and learning needs in assigned subject areas.
• Broaden access to collections through digital project initiatives and actively acquire and promote both licensed and freely available digital resources of value to researchers, particularly related to data.
• Build on collections of distinction that may also serve regional, national, and international users.
• Work effectively with colleagues to enhance acquisition, access, discovery, and use of library collections.

Required Qualifications:
• An ALA-accredited master's degree, a master's degree with specialization in archives or a master's degree in museum studies.
• Familiarity with innovative and traditional research methods and scholarship in the visual arts.
• Demonstrated ability to work collaboratively with faculty, subject librarians, special collections and others in order to advance innovative arts research and promote integration of digital arts approaches to enrich the curriculum and research.
• Knowledge of collection development practices and information resources for art history, art theory, art techniques, and design.
• Supervisory experience.
• Commitment to librarianship, scholarship, and service and evidence of, or potential to meet, the requirements of promotion and tenure.

Desired Qualifications:
• Advanced training in an arts field (undergraduate or graduate degree).

• Demonstrated experience with processes, tools, and techniques in the digital arts (image discovery, image analysis, digital media platforms).
• Previous experience in an academic library or an organization serving a visual arts community.
• Reading knowledge of French, German, or Italian.

Appointment:
This is a full-time, permanent, 12-month appointment. For appointment as a tenure-track faculty member, the candidate will be required to meet university and Libraries requirements for promotion and tenure. Salary, position type, and faculty rank are dependent on qualifications and experience.

Benefits:
The University offers competitive benefits in the form of 22 days vacation, 15 days sick leave, 10 holidays, hospitalization, major medical, surgical-medical, dental, vision, long-term disability insurance, and life insurance at 2.5 times one's annual salary. State and alternative retirement choices are also available. For a summary of benefits, see: http://go.osu.edu/benefitssummary.

Join Us!
Applications will be accepted until the position is filled. Preference will be given to applications received by July 17, 2016. Please send cover letter, CV, references, and salary history and requirements to Randall McKenzie at mckenzie.87@osu.edu. Please include Head of Fine Arts Library in the subject field.
Contact Information: Randall McKenzie, Human Resources, 1858 Neil Avenue Mall, Columbus, OH 43210, 614-292-5917.

"Fun with a Purpose: Highlights and its contribution to Childhood Education"

Through September 4, 2016

Fun With a Purpose: Highlights and its Contribution to Childhood Education is an interactive exhibition that takes a closer look at why young readers and adults continue to love Highlights magazine. Created in 1946 by Dr. Garry Cleveland Myers and wife Caroline Clark Myers, the magazine has become an educational resource for parents and teachers around the world. The research-based publication has purposefully and strategically encouraged children to think creatively and critically for 70 years.
