Carole Fink (Ph.D., Yale) joined the faculty of the OSU History Department in September 1991. She had previously taught at the University of North Carolina at Wilmington, the State University of New York at Binghamton, Canisius College, Albertus Magnus College, and Connecticut College.

Professor Fink, a specialist in European international history and historiography, has published two monographs, five edited volumes, one translation, and numerous articles and chapters. These works include Marc Bloch: A Life in History (Cambridge, 1989), the first biography of France's soldier-patriot-historian, which has been translated into five languages; The Genoa Conference: European Diplomacy, 1921-22 (Chapel Hill, 1984; Syracuse paperback edition, 1993), which was awarded the George Louis Beer Prize of the American Historical Association for the best book in European International History; and an introduction to and translation of Bloch's Memoirs of War, 1914-15 (Cornell, 1980; Cambridge, 1988); as well as collections of essays on German Nationalism, European Reconstruction in 1921-1922, The Establishment of Frontiers in Europe after the two World Wars, 1968: The World Transformed, and human Rights in Europe Since 1945. She has just completed a book, entitled Defending the Rights of Others: The Great Powers, The Jews, and International Minority Protection, 1878-1938 (Cambridge University Press, 2004).
