Randy Schweller, Professor of Political Science and Mershon Center affiliate, speaks at the Undergraduate Research Forum on November 20, 2008. More than 60 students attended this event to learn about engaging in undergraduate research.

Edward Crenshaw, Associate Professor of Sociology and Mershon affiliate, gives advice to students at the Undergraduate Research Forum. Fellow panelists, professors Randy Schweller and Barbara Hanawalt Crenshaw, listen. "You have to make a contribution. You have to add to knowledge about a topic," Crenshaw said.
Undergraduate students listen to a panel of three Mershon-affiliated professors speak about the basic ingredients for successful undergraduate research.