Smederevo Fortress - Smederevo

The largest medieval fortification in Serbia - situated at the confluence of the River Jezava + the Danube - at places the walls are 13.5 ft thick, towers were up to 81 ft high, each wall is 1625 ft long + the walls enclose 25 acres

Despot Đorđe Branković built the fortress from 1428-30. When the Turks captured it in 1459 following Branković's death, it marked the end of the medieval Serbian state.

It was finally liberated again by Prince Mihailo in 1867

Branković maintained his headquarters and residence in the fortress
