Herrick Archives Building 835/43

A. IDENTIFICATION & LOCATION

On March 13, 1987, the University acquired nine medical care facilities by purchase from Humedco, Inc., a wholly-owned subsidiary of Humana, Inc. This organization began in 1964 as Heritage House of America, Inc. The name was changed to Extencicare, Inc., in 1967, and to Humana, Inc., in 1974.

Just prior to their purchase by the University, these facilities were known as Med First centers; the name was changed to MedOHIO by the University without Board of Trustees action.

These nine facilities, with the building numbers now assigned to them, are listed below with their respective names and addresses. Newark, which is in Licking County, is included in spite of the fact that these reports otherwise are limited to buildings in Franklin County.

Building 835 is listed in the current Ohio Bell telephone directory as the "Northwest Columbus MedOHIO Center."

In the case of Building 838, the University assumed a land lease; in Reynoldsburg (Building 841), the University assumed a lease on the entire building and grounds.

Buildings 832, 838, and 840 are not current operation.

All of the buildings are of one-story construction. The Reynoldsburg building has a stucco exterior; the others have brick veneer exteriors with wood above the first floor level. The buildings range in size from 3,000 to 3,466 gross square feet.

All of the buildings except Reynoldsburg were designed for Humana, Inc., by Godsey Associates of Louisville, Ky. The Reynoldsburg building was not built by Humana, Inc., but was leased by Humana, Inc., and converted from some other use.

The Bethel and Westerville buildings were constructed in 1982; Newark in 1983, Bexley in 1985, and the others in 1986. The date of construction of the Reynoldsburg building is not known.
