William Scheuerman, professor of political science at Indiana University at Bloomington, gave a talk titled "What Cosmopolitans Can Learn From Classical Realists," at the Mershon Center on November 13, 2009.

William Scheuerman, professor of political science and West European Studies at Indiana University at Bloomington, took a number of great questions after his lecture, "What Cosmopolitans Can Learn From Classic Realists." Scheuerman's primary research interests include modern political thought, German political thought, democratic theory, legal theory, and normative international theory.
Scheuerman fielded questions from a large audience of faculty and staff during his lecture titled, "What Cosmopolitans Can Learn From Classical Realists." Scheuerman visited the Mershon Center on November 13, 2009. His visit was coordinated by Alex Wendt, Ralph D. Mershon Professor of International Security.

William Scheuerman, professor of political science and West European studies at Indiana University at Bloomington gave a talk titled "What Cosmopolitans Can Learn from Classic Realists" at the Mershon Center on November 13, 2009.