Lisa Martin, professor of political science at the University of Wisconsin-Madison, listened to a question after her lecture on "International Institutions as Signaling Devices" on February 12, 2010, at the Mershon Center for International Security Studies.

Lisa Martin (center), professor of political science at the University of Wisconsin-Madison, stands with Alex Thompson (left) and Sarah Brooks (right), both associate professors of political science at The Ohio State University. Thompson and Brooks invited Martin to speak at the Mershon Center as part of its Globalization, Institutions and Economic Security (GIES) Workshop.