

EARLY MODERN JAPAN

An Interdisciplinary Journal

Volume V Number II

CONTENTS

December 1995

ESSAYS 論説

Mapping Early Modernity: Geographical Meditations on a Comparative Concept

by Kären Wigen 1

Formulating a Theory of Women's Writing in 17th-Century Japan:
Kitamura Kigin's Ominaeshi monogatari [Tales of the Maidenflower]

by Paul Gordon Schalow 14

The Prehistory of the Japanese Nation-State: Status, Ethnicity, and Boundaries

by David L. Howell 19

BIBLIOGRAPHY AND SOURCES 史料紹介

A Transgressive Life: The Diary of a Genroku Samurai

by Luke Roberts 25

BOOK REVIEWS 書評

Cosmology of Kyoto: Tales of the Millennium— Visual Mindscape of Old Japan

reviewed by David Pollack 31

Editors

Lawrence Marceau

University of Delaware

Mark Ravina

Emory University

Editorial Board:

Philip Brown

Ohio State University

Sumie Jones,

Indiana University

Kate Wildman Nakai

Sophia University

Ronald Toby

University of Illinois, Urbana-Champaign

Early Modern Japan appears twice annually. For subscription information please refer to the end page. The editors and editorial board gratefully acknowledge the continued support of Emory University.

The editors welcome preliminary inquiries about manuscripts for publication in Early Modern Japan. Please send queries to Mark Ravina, Early Modern Japan, Department of History, Emory University, Atlanta, GA 30322, or, via e-mail to histmr@emory.edu

Books for review and correspondence regarding reviews should be sent to Lawrence Marceau, Early Modern Japan, University of Delaware, Department of Foreign Languages and Literatures, Newark, DE, 19716-2550

Subscribers wishing to review books are encouraged to specify their interests on the subscriber information form.