

Mustapha Nabli, a Tunisian economist who served as governor of the Central Bank of Tunisia from the revolution of 2011 to July 2012, spoke at the Mershon Center on January 7, 2014.

About 25 people attended a talk by Mustapha Nabli, a larger than expected crowd considering the university closed due to weather that day. Nabli spoke on "How to Transform the Arab Spring into an Economic Spring: The Case of Tunisia."

Mustapha Nabli (left) talked with Mershon senior research scientist John Mueller after his event.

Mustapha Nabli (left) stands with Craig Jenkins, director of the Mershon Center.