Lien-Hang Nguyen, associate professor of history at University of Kentucky, spoke about "Spies, Allies, and Murder?: The Ominous Origins of the Tet Offensive" on February 6, 2014, at the Mershon Center.
Based on recently declassified materials from Vietnam, Lien-Hang Nguyen discussed how North Vietnamese domestic politics and foreign relations influenced Hanoi’s strategy deliberation for the 1968 Tet Offensive.
Lien-Hang Nguyen spoke with students after her event.
Lien-Hang Nguyen (left) stands with Robert McMahon, Ralph D. Mershon Professor of History, who organized her event as part of the Diplomatic History Speaker Series.