LAW RECORD REBORN

The last issue of the Law Record was published in July, 1965. It was then decided that the Record would be merged with the Buckeye Barrister published by the Student Bar Association. The National Council of the College of Law has decided to resume publication of the Record and the Student Bar Association has changed the format of the Barrister so that it will be a mimeographed sheet directed exclusively toward the students of the College. The plan is to publish the Record once each Quarter and to distribute it to all alumni of the College.

A NEW DEAN

The July, 1965, Record reported the retirement of Dean Frank R. Strong and the appointment of Dean Ivan C. Rutledge. The Record reports in this issue the retirement to full time teaching in the College of Dean Rutledge and the appointment of Dean James C. Kirby, Jr., which was effective July 1, 1970. The College is fortunate that Dean Rutledge has decided to remain at the College where he is teaching Labor Law, Evidence, Administrative Practice and Trial Practice. Dean Kirby is the tenth Dean of the College of Law which has been in continuous existence since 1891. He came to the College from New York University. Dean Kirby, who was born in Lafayette, Tennessee, graduated with honors in Political Science from Vanderbilt University. He was a Root-Tilden Scholar at New York University and there received both the J.D. and LL.M. degrees. He served for two years in the Army Judge Advocate General's Corps, practiced law in Nashville, was General Counsel of the Subcommittee on Constitutional Amendments of the Senate Judiciary Committee, and was on the law faculties of Vanderbilt, Northwestern and New York University before coming to Ohio State. Dean Kirby has already made many friends among alumni of the College.
MESSAGE FROM THE DEAN

The Autumn quarter at The Ohio State University was exciting and encouraging to one in the position of your new dean. The Centennial program, featuring several national figures in law and education, focussed our faculty's attention on the escalating pressures and demands upon legal education and sharpened our thinking on new directions for this College.

Our Moot Court team's winning an unprecedented third national championship was a fitting climax to the quarter, dramatically illustrating the sort of excellence in professional achievement which we expect to become the hallmark of all aspects of the College's program.

A development of enormous significance is the high quality of this year's entering class. Their collective grade average is above 3.0 and their LSAT scores place them in the top 20% nationally. First year teachers report new highs in classroom performance and exam-writing which indicate that our student body has improved to the point that purely academic attrition should virtually disappear. This is a milestone in the development of any law school and carries dramatic implications for student and faculty recruitment and the overall quality of the work of the College.

The faculty adopted several progressive measures, including the installation of a faculty advisor program, which includes dinner meetings with freshmen in faculty members' homes. This was greatly appreciated by the entering class and returned much of value to students and faculty alike.

Another innovation has been approved by the faculty for our clinical programs. A report has been adopted calling for expanded clinical teaching and wider experiences in internships and field research outside the classroom. There will be a de-emphasis of routine representation of clinical clients, but a continued use of selected cases for educational purposes.

Alumni responses have been heartening in every respect and I feel that I have already entered into a meaningful working relationship with you. I was especially gratified that the Board of Trustees granted our request that the Juris Doctor degree be made fully retroactive to all alumni holding the LL.B. degree. All in all, we are off to a very good year.

RETROACTIVE JURIS DOCTOR DEGREE

As the result of action by the Board of Trustees of The University in November, 1970, all who have graduated from the College of Law with the LL.B. degree are eligible to receive the Juris Doctor degree retroactively. The retroactive degree was previously available only to alumni who had earned a baccalaureate degree before they received the LL.B. degree. The action finally taken by the Board of Trustees was in accord with the consistent recommendation of the faculty of the College since the Juris Doctor degree was considered as the first degree in law. Alumni having an LL.B. degree who desire the retroactive Juris Doctor degree should forward a request to the College accompanied by a check payable to The Ohio State University in the amount of $10.00, the diploma fee established by the Board of Trustees. Alumni who received the honors J.D. degree can receive the retroactive Juris Doctor degree Summa cum Laude; alumni who received the LL.B. degree and were elected to membership in the Order of the Coif will receive the Juris Doctor degree cum Laude on request.

CENTENNIAL AWARDS

The University selected a group of 100 to receive the University's Centennial Achievement Award. The College is indeed fortunate that six of the recipients of this outstanding honor are alumni of the College of Law. They are: Paul W. Brown, '39, Paul R. Gingher, '21, William M. McCulloch, '25, Robert W. Minor, '43, C. William O'Neill, '42, and William B. Saxbe, '48. Everyone connected with the College offers congratulations to the alumni who have brought such distinction to it.
DISTINGUISHED ALUMNI

One of the nice things that the alumni and students of the College of Law do each year is to select a Distinguished Alumnus and honor this person by recognizing him at an official College function and presenting him with a plaque.

This program was initiated in 1964 and the first alumnus so selected was Isadore Topper, '27. In 1965, the selectee was Clarence D. Laylin, '06. We are sorry to report that both of these men died during 1970.

In 1966, the award was made to Thomas F. Patton, '26. In 1967, the recipient was C. William O'Neill, '42. The 1968 award went to Roger H. Smith, '40, and in 1969, John W. Bricker, '20, was so honored.

The 1970 selection was Donald C. Power, '26, and the award was presented at the Law Alumni Reunion dinner on October 30, 1970. Don was a truly worthy recipient in this line of distinguished alumni. His outstanding ability as a practicing attorney and his phenomenal business acumen in bringing the General Telephone and Electronics Company from a relatively small national corporation to one of the largest in the country peculiarly qualified him as a Distinguished Alumnus of our College. While he has now retired as President of G. T. & E. Company, he still retains his position as Chairman of its Board. He also serves as a director of many other local and national corporations. He lives now at his farm on West Broad Street near West Jefferson and maintains his office at 100 East Broad Street with the law firm of Power, Jones, Bell and Schneider.

NATIONAL COUNCIL MEETING

The National Council of the College of Law of The Ohio State University, the official voice of the Law Alumni, held its regular Fall meeting on October 30, 1970, in the Law Building. This was the same day as the Law Alumni Reunion dinner so it permitted the Council members to attend that function in the evening.

This was the first Council meeting attended by the new Dean, James C. Kirby,Jr. He reported that the state of the College is quite good. The library and physical plant are outstanding and the faculty is stable, strong and diverse. He stated that he inherited from former Dean Rutledge a competent, smoothly working administrative staff and that the College has gotten off to a good start in 1970. Dean Kirby sees as the two most pressing needs of the College: (1) expanded faculty so that more individualized and small unit instruction can be afforded; and (2) financial assistance funds to aid needy students. For the first need, he cited the necessity for increased legislative appropriations and for the second need he called for increased financial support of scholarship and loan funds.

A special resolution of commendation to former Dean Ivan C. Rutledge was presented, accepted and spread upon the minutes.

Mr. J. Paul McNamara, an original member of the Council, traced its history for the benefit of the new members attending their first meeting.

Reports were made by Associate Dean Albert M. Kuhfeld on student selection and enrollment and by Council Secretary Kenyon S. Campbell on voluntary financial assistance.
NATIONAL COUNCIL MEETING (Continued)

James E. Chapman, Chairman of a special committee to probe means of better support for the Law Journal, made his report. He stated that the main need seems to be an enlarged subscription list which should put the Journal on a sound financial basis. It was agreed by the Council that a mail campaign should be conducted in an attempt to accomplish this.

Since the Buckeye Barrister has now become a strictly student newspaper, the Council approved the publishing of an alumni newsletter to go to all alumni. The Dean appointed Associate Dean Kuhfeld as its editor.

ALUMNI REUNION

Some two hundred attended the Annual Alumni Reunion at Ilonka's Provincial Party House on October 30, 1970. Homer M. Edwards, '48, President of the Law Alumni Association, introduced Alan B. Loop, '33, as his successor, Grace Fern Heck, '30, as the President-Elect and Sally L. Weed, '42, who was elected to succeed herself as Secretary-Treasurer. Homer M. Edwards then introduced Dean James C. Kirby, Jr. for brief remarks. Those who attended had a fine dinner, a convivial and congenial evening, an all around good time. Those who did not attend should include among their New Year's resolutions a resolve to be at the 1971 Reunion.

FACULTY ACTIVITIES

Members of the faculty of the College have been very busy. Professor Richard E. Day served as course director for an intensified course in Antitrust Law offered as part of the Continuing Legal Education program sponsored by the Ohio Legal Center Institute. He attended the National Conference of Uniform State Law Commissioners in St. Louis, Missouri, and was appointed to a new committee to prepare proposed legislation on Drug Addiction and Alcoholism Rehabilitation. He was elected at the American Bar Association Meeting in St. Louis to the Council of the Antitrust Section. He organized and is faculty advisor to The Antitrust and Trade Regulation Club made up of interested law students. James Carpenter has prepared an article for publication in the Ohio State Law Journal on "Consumer Protection in Ohio Against False Advertising and Deceptive Practices." Peter Simmons taught during the summer session at the University of Illinois College of Law. He recently addressed the Ohio Department of Urban Affairs Housing Technician Training Course on "Tenants' Rights" and delivered a paper at the annual meeting of the American Institute of Planners in Minneapolis on "Citizen Participation in Land use Planning Decisions". His essay on the "American Law of Zoning" was published in a recent issue of the Buffalo Law Review. Lawrence Herman has been appointed Consultant to the Ohio Supreme Court's Advisory Committee on Rules of Criminal Procedure. Michael Kindred was a member of the panel on "Medicolegal Aspects of Abortion as Related to the Mentally Retarded", at the regional meeting of the American Association of Mental Deficiency. He testified before a joint House-Senate Committee of the Ohio General Assembly on divorce law reform. Robert Wills served as Staff Consultant for the Ohio Supreme Court Rules Advisory Committee and at the annual meeting of the Ohio State Bar Association, District 16, in Lima, he discussed "The New Civil Rules and Their Effect on Ohio Practice." Morgan Shipman wrote an article entitled "Some Thoughts About the Role of State Takeover Legislation: The Ohio Takeover Act" which was published in the Case Western Reserve Law Review Symposium Issue entitled "Controlling Corporate Takeover Bids: State Regulation and the Ohio Approach." Stanley Laughlin, Jr., prepared an article entitled "A Requiem for Requiems: The Supreme Court at the Bar of Reality", published in the Michigan Law Review. He discussed "The Scranton Report" on a radio forum and talked on "The 1970 Voting Rights Act" on a television show. Ivan C. Rutledge addressed the Fall Conference of the Muskingum College faculty on the subject "The Intellectual Establishment". Richard S. Miller delivered a paper entitled "The Need for Cooperation Between Lawyers and Human Factors Specialists in Automobile Accident Research" at the annual meeting of the Human Factors Society in San Francisco. Ervin H. Pollack has made several trips to Central America at the instance of the U.S. State Department to assist in the publication of Central American Economic Integration law. He prepared and had published a supplement and assignments to accompany "Fundamentals of Legal Research" (3rd Ed.) and an instructor's manual to accompany the assignments for Pollack's "Fundamentals of Legal Research." He wrote an article and edited for publication other papers in the area of human rights prepared for the Second Plenary Meeting of the American Section of the International Association for the Philosophy of Law and Social Philosophy. Merton C. Bernstein was the luncheon speaker at a national conference on the Coal Mine Safety Act sponsored by the Schools of Public Health of the University of California and Howard University. His subject was "Social Insurance and Disability in the 1970s". He has been selected as a member of a permanent panel of arbitrators to decide grievance arbitration cases that may arise during the term of a three year contract between the Master Division of the Koehring Company and Local 699, International Union of Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers. Earl Finbar Murphy has been appointed a member of the American Bar Association Special Committee on Environmental Law. He was the principal speaker at the recent dedication of the new building of the Indianapolis Law School and was the Chapel Speaker at Heidelberg College. In September, he was the principal speaker at the Murray Grove Association annual meeting in New Jersey. He participated in July in the Athens Ekistics Month of the Athens Center of Ekistics in Athens, Greece. He is a member of the Environmental Task Force appointed by President Fawcett. Robert Nordstrom has had published recently his "Hornbook on the Law of Sales." Mary Ellen Caldwell was the Mershon Center delegate to a conference on "The Role of the University in Community Health Services", conducted by the Association of Caribbean Universities and Research Institutes, at Cali, Columbia. She delivered a paper, "The Intersections of Medicine and Law: New Perspectives", at the Second World Meeting on Medical Law in Washington, D.C. in August, 1970, and she was a delegate to the 38th American Assembly on the United States and the Caribbean recently held in Harriman, New York. Her article on "The U.N. and Science: Past and Future Implications for World Health", was published in the American Journal of International Law and the Ohio State Law Journal published her article on "The Intersections of Medicine and Law: Bases for Future Collaboration." Howard Fink is a visiting professor this year at the University of Illinois College of Law. Michael D. Rose is on leave of absence for the year serving as Associate to the General Counsel of the Internal Revenue Service in Washington, D.C. Leo J. Raskind, who came to the College of Law of The Ohio State University in 1964, has accepted an appointment to the faculty of the University of Minnesota Law School. We regret that he is leaving Ohio State. Keith S. Rosen was on leave of absence during the 1970 Autumn Quarter in Rio de Janeiro on a Social Science Research Council grant to complete research on a book dealing with law and inflation in Brazil. While in South America, he gave a seminar in Spanish and Portuguese for law professors at the law school of the National University of Paraguay. He is back at the College teaching his regular courses at this time.

CENTENNIAL LECTURE SERIES

As its contribution to the Ohio State University Centennial program, the College of Law presented a series of lectures on the subject "Professional Education in the Contemporary University" on November 2 and 3, 1970. Professor Ervin H. Pollack, the Chairman of the College of Law Centennial Committee, presented as Chairman for the series Columbia University's Cardozo Professor of Jurisprudence, Harry W. Jones. Ohio State University President Novice G. Fawcett participated in the opening ceremonies. President Edward H. Levi of the University of Chicago, gave an outstanding address on "The Place of Professional Education in the Life of the University". Vice President Allan F. Smith, of the University of Michigan, and Richard C. Snyder, Director of Mershon Center for Education in National Security, gave constructive discussions of President Levi's address. Our own Dean James C. Kirby, Jr., taking over for a speaker who was unable to attend because of illness, gave a well prepared and thought provoking paper on "The Teaching and Research Missions of the University Professional School". Chairman Erwin O. Smigel, of New York University Department of Sociology, and Chairman Henry G. Crumblett, of The Ohio State University Department of Medical Microbiology, commented on Dean Kirby's address and added constructive observations of their own concerning the subject under discussion. William Pincus, President of the Council on Legal Education for Professional Responsibility, Inc., gave a carefully prepared presentation of "The Clinical Component in University Professional Education", and Vice Provost and Dean of the Graduate School of Ohio State, Arliss L. Roaden and Dr. William G. Pace, Professor of Surgery at Ohio State, advanced new and different ideas concerning the subject matter discussed by Mr. Pincus. Norris Darrell, President of American Law Institute and a senior partner in Sullivan and Cromwell of New York City, discussed "The Role of the Universities in Continuing Professional Education" and Associate Dean William E. Hurley of Ohio State University's College of Administrative Sciences and Zolman Cavitch, a senior partner in Stotter, Familo, Cavitch, Elden and Durkin of Cleveland, discussed and amplified ideas presented by Mr. Darrell. The lecture series was well attended and well received. Professor Pollack, the members of the College of Law Centennial Committee, and all of the speakers are entitled to commendation for bringing to The Ohio State University an outstandingly worthwhile program.

EQUAL EMPLOYMENT POLICY

The faculty of the College of Law adopted a policy concerning equal employment at one of its recent meetings. The policy is as follows: "The College of Law, together with other law schools in Ohio and the nation, has expanded opportunities in legal education for students who belong to minority groups. The proportion of such students, and of women, in the College has increased considerably in the past few years. It is the joint responsibility of the College and the legal profession at large to ensure that all students are afforded equal employment opportunities. Many employers have taken positive steps to ensure that law school graduates are employed on the basis of full equality, but the small number of women and minority group graduates has kept this question from emerging as a pressing one until very recently. The placement services of the College of Law are available only to employers who provide equal employment opportunities for all, regardless of sex, race, color, creed, religion, or national or ethnic origin."

Appropriate procedures to implement this policy have been adopted by the College. A detailed employment procedure was established. The action by the faculty is in line with placement positions established in many of the leading law schools of the country.

STUDENT BAR ASSOCIATION

MOOT COURT TEAM GAINS CLEAN SWEEP

Our College became a three-time winner of the National Moot Court competition with a victory in New York City on December 17, 1970. Twenty-two teams, the survivors of teams entered by 122 law schools throughout the country, met in the final rounds and the two-man team of Gary D. Greenwald, of Beechwood, Ohio, and Grady L. Pettigrew, Jr., of Columbus won. The question which was the subject of the 1970 competition involved the right of a reporter to withhold sources of information. The Ohio State team successfully argued both sides of the question in the finals. This team, a feat almost unheard of in the twenty-one years of this competition, won the national championship, best oral argument, and best brief at one time.

In addition, the Greenwald-Pettigrew team received the Harrison Tweed Award for the best legal brief in the competition. The Ohio State team won this prize last year and is one of only two colleges to have won this prize twice in a row. Also, Mr. Greenwald received the American College of Trial Lawyers Award as the outstanding oralist.

The College has participated in the final rounds nine times in the past twelve years.

At the Ohio-Michigan round in Detroit, Ohio State's respondent team consisting of Clifford Haines, Randolph Snow and Joseph Wolkowicz submitted the best respondent's brief. Ohio State's Moot Court team received the trophy for the outstanding Ohio law school in the Regional competition.

Professor Lawrence Herman has charge of the Moot Court program at the College and was coach of the winning team.

Activities of Law Students During Spring Disturbances

At the last National Council meeting, there was some discussion concerning activities of law students during the disturbances last Spring Quarter, and the Council suggested that this information be supplied to all alumni of the College. The violence which occurred on the campus was entirely entrenches to the College of Law except for its being the victim of vandalism and malicious attacks by persons outside the College. Not a single law student participated in any violent disruptive act. Before the University reopened after the May 6, 1970, closing, the President of the Student Bar Association and the President of the Senior Class were told that the policing and general security of each of the colleges would be a responsibility of the College itself. James Oliphant, the S.B.A. President, called a meeting of the law students in the downtown Ohio Theater on May 15, 1970. He presented, and the law students adopted, a comprehensive security plan for the College. Student monitors, selected by the S.B.A. President from student volunteers, checked identification of all persons seeking to enter the College building after it reopened on May 18, 1970. Mr. Oliphant, during this period, came to the College at 7:00 a.m., opened the one door to the building used for entering and leaving it, and checked identification until other students previously designated appeared to relieve him. The doors were monitored by students each day so long as the building was open.

During the disturbance of May 21, 1970, practically all of the windows on the High Street side of the Building were broken. Had not the student monitors gotten all doors to the building locked promptly, the building would have been invaded and serious consequences probably would have followed. Efforts were made by strangers to get into the building before the destruction along High Street commenced but student monitors refused them admittance. The University decided that a fire watch was required and students of the College under the leadership of Miles Durfee, Senior Class President, assumed the responsibility therefor. They worked out plans under which one faculty member and six students were present in the Law Building, on two occasions for the entire night and during other times until after 1:00 a.m. when the curfew went into effect, assuring that no stranger entered the building and constantly checking the building for possible fires. A two-way radio communication system was set up by one of the students on the roof of the building.

another student supplied walkie-talkie radios for use in the fire watch. At least twenty students participated in the night fire watch. Eight or ten members of the faculty volunteered for night fire watch duties. A vice-president of the University expressed high commendation for the monitoring and fire watch system of the College. These procedures were carried on until May 29, 1970, when the University advised that they were no longer required. Actions by law students during the emergency situation last Spring left little to be desired and were a source of justifiable pride to all connected with the College.

THE NEW FIRST YEAR CLASS

There were 239 students in the class which began the study of law Autumn Quarter, 1970. There were 180 students in the second year class and 128 in the third year class for a total of 552. The law school building's capacity is 560 students.

The entering class has an undergraduate cumulative point-hour average of 3.06 and a Law School Admission Test score average of 573. The point hour-average for the 1969 entering class was 2.97 and the test score average was 565. The same figures for the class which entered six years ago were 2.71 and 536.

There are now 26 women law students in the College, 14 of them in the first year class. The number of black students has increased from 8 last year to 18 this year with eleven in the first year class.

STUDENT FINANCIAL AIDS

The increasing costs of obtaining a legal education increases each year the amounts required for scholarships, grants-in-aid and loans. The College had available for such purposes at the beginning of this academic year the following sums: from General University Development Fund for scholarship renewals, $17,000, and for new scholarships, $27,500; from the Special Development Fund for aid to minority group students, $15,000; N.D.E. loans for College of Law students, $30,000 to $100,000; from College of Law endowment funds, $24,100; from unrestricted funds donated by College alumni and friends, $7,300. These funds were used: for loans from College of Law Development Funds, $5,625; for scholarships and grants-in-aid, $90,900; N.D.E. loans, between $80,000 and $100,000. Financial assistance in the amount of $27,000 was given to minority group students.

FORMER COLLEGE PROFESSORS

The Record has inquiries concerning the present whereabouts of former law professors at Ohio State. This information will be published as it becomes available. Professor Vaughn C. Ball is at The University of Southern California Law Center, Los Angeles, California; Professor William T. Burke is at The University of Washington School of Law, Seattle, Washington; Professor Paul D. Carrington is at The University of Michigan Law School, Ann Arbor, Michigan; Professor Elwyn G. Davies has retired and lives in Ft. Lauderdale, Florida; Professor John J. Duffey is with the law firm of Topper, Alloway, Goodman, DeLeone & Duffey, Columbus, Ohio; Professor Richard A. INFORMATION FOR THE RECORD

Dean Kirby has assigned to Associate Dean Kuhfeld the editorship of the newly revived Law Record. He needs the cooperation of all alumni to make it a success and would appreciate your comments. The length of the present issue was dictated by a need to "catch up" after the Record's five year siesta. Present plans are that the Record will be published each quarter as a four page self mailer. The publication is for the alumni of the College. Its desire is to bring to the alumni information they would like to have. Alumni will not receive the Record unless the College has their current addresses. If an address as shown in the 1969 Ohio State University College of Law Alumni Directory is not current or if names have been omitted, the Record would like to know. The College needs the home and office address of all alumni. The cooperation of every alumnus is solicited to the end that the College will have the up-to-date addresses of all.

The Record hopes to publish as much information as possible concerning alumni. Won't you please furnish us with information about yourself and about other alumni. We need your suggestions and your help if the Record is going to be the source of information we want it to be.
