Notes of Interest

This is it! The last week of classes for Winter Quarter! Finish those term papers, get out those notes, visit the library, and GOOD LUCK next week. Remember to check the final exam schedules located in all lobbies.

Check out the whimsical prints on display: Twenty-five prints will be on display in SAB 160 this week. The prints feature natural themes in an entertaining and graphic manner. Specific viewing hours are listed above.

Charlie Harper - naturalist-artist-humorist to speak: Don't miss Tuesday nights's program by Charlie Harper. The lecture will begin at 8 p.m. in the Auditorium. A reception and viewing of prints will take place from 7-8 p.m. in SAB 160. Harper is a very popular speaker, prized writer and respected artist.

Special thanks to all: The Student Senate wishes to thank everyone for their support during Senate Awareness Week. The Surveys are currently being tabulated -- lots of helpful information was received.

Senate meets for final time in Winter: Be sure to stop by for the Student Senate meeting this Thursday at 4 p.m. The meeting starts with a general overview of Senate activities followed by an open forum section. Voice your opinions. GALVIN 066 is the location on Thursday.

Choral Ensemble to perform Friday at noon: There will not be a choral concert Friday night, rather a noon performance is scheduled in SAB 160. Pop music (selections by Lionel Richie, Barry Manilow and others) is planned. Support the chorus by attending this concert.

Student Leaders need to Meet on Thursday: At least one representative from each Student organization must attend a meeting on Thursday at 2 p.m. or 5 p.m. in GA 066. The meeting's theme is MAY WEEK! All campus groups are encouraged to present programs, plan fund raisers or participate in events during the campus' spring festival (May 2-8, 1987). If unable to attend, contact Carole Enneking in GA 015C.

Mark your April Calendars: Tuesday, March 31 will feature the Quarterly Social hour in the Galvin Student Lounge; Wednesday, April 1 will feature Magician Bob Garner. Garner incorporates humor and magic in his program. Both a close-up show and stage show are planned.

Lima Campus Education Majors honored: Eight OSU-Lima Education majors were recognized as outstanding seniors on March 3, 1987. Those selected by the College of Education were: Tina Buckmaster, Ann Brady, Elizabeth Lamb, Layne Meyer, Diana Sanders, Beth Swanson, Carol Vennekotter, and Julie Wilson. Selections are based on cumulative grade point average. Congratulations to all!!

Diana Sanders - senior at OSU-Lima was chosen as the TOP SCHOLAR for the entire College of Education. She was individually recognized at the President's Scholarship Recognition Dinner.

LTC Business Students compete in State Competition: Five OEA members travelled to Cincinnati March 6-7 for competition in shorthand, legal practices, proofreading, etc. Those involved were: Dawn Cariello, Paula Schmackers, Pam Rickert, Renee Phillips, and Wanda Bowers.

Sports News

Couples needed for Fun Run: The annual Couple's run is planned for Thursday, March 12 starting at 12:15 p.m. One man, one woman needed with each completing a one mile course. Prizes will be awarded for faculty/staff and student divisions.
