Going on the Offensive: Legitimacy and Fairness Inside the Military Justice “Trinity” of Interests
Dan Maurer ................................................................. 311

The Opaque Glass Ceiling: How Will Gender Neutrality in Combat Affect Military Sexual Assault Prevalence, Prevention, and Prosecution?
Jenna Grassbaugh ........................................................................ 319

“To Support and Defend” Against Sexual Misconduct: Calling on Future Military Leaders to Bridge the Cultural Divide
Janine P. Felsman ............................................................................... 353

Acoustic Separation in Military Justice: Filling the Decision Rule Vacuum with Ethical Standards
Rachel E. VanLandingham .................................................................. 389

Sex Offenses Under Military Law: Will the Recent Changes in the Uniform Code of Military Justice Re-Traumatize Sexual Assault Survivors in the Courtroom?
Lisa M. Schenck ............................................................................... 439

Sex Crimes Litigation as Hazardous Duty: Practical Tools for Trauma-Exposed Prosecutors, Defense Counsel, and Paralegals
Major Evan R. Seamone .................................................................... 487

Informing the Debate About Sexual Assault in the Military Services: Is the Department of Defense Its Own Worst Enemy?
Lisa M. Schenck ............................................................................... 579

COMMENTARIES

Body Snatchers
Heidi Reamer Anderson ..................................................................... 673

Moving from Preparation to Perpetration? Attempted Crimes and Breach of the Peace in Scots Law
Pamela R. Ferguson ........................................................................... 687

Overcharging
Kyle Graham ..................................................................................... 701

Is Psychological Research on Self-Control Relevant to Criminal Law?
Paul Litton ....................................................................................... 725

COMMENTARY SYMPOSIUM
“WHITE COLLAR CRIME, FEDERAL CRIMINAL LAW, AND BUSINESS CRIMES PEDAGOGY”
Guest Editor: Ellen S. Podgor

Introduction
Ellen S. Podgor ................................................................................. 751
Teaching the Methods of White-Collar Criminal Practice: Investigations
Roger A. Fairfax, Jr. ........................................................................................................... 755

Examining the Exercise of Prosecutorial Discretion in White Collar Crime
Kelly Strader ..................................................................................................................... 759

Teaching the Art of Defending a White Collar Criminal Case
Katrice Bridges Copeland .................................................................................................. 763

Writing (and Re-Writing) Federal Criminal Law—in the Classroom
William W. Berry III ......................................................................................................... 767

Teaching Research Methods to Understand Business Crimes
Shima Baradaran ................................................................................................................ 771

Integrating Problem Solving Exercises into Federal Criminal Law
Susan R. Klein .................................................................................................................... 775

Putting Students First: Engaging Students in Teaching White Collar Crime
Sandra D. Jordan ................................................................................................................. 781

White Collar Crime Goes to the Movies
Geraldine Szott Moohr ...................................................................................................... 785

Teaching White Collar Crime
Miriam H. Baer .................................................................................................................. 789

Brian R. Gallini .................................................................................................................. 795

Teaching White Collar Crime: A Fresh Perspective
Jeffrey M. Cohen ............................................................................................................... 799

REVIEW

Going to the Source: The “New” Reid Method and False Confessions
Alan Hirsch ....................................................................................................................... 803

STUDENT NOTE

Slaying the Synthetic Hydra: Drafting a Controlled Substances Act that Effectively Captures Synthetic Drugs
Hari K. Sathappan ................................................................................................................. 827

DAVID H. BODIKER LECTURE SERIES ON CRIMINAL JUSTICE

2013 Bodiker Lecture
Patrick J. Fitzgerald .......................................................................................................... 851
Ohio State Journal of Criminal Law Board of Advisors

Lawrence A. Alexander
University of San Diego School of Law

Sara Sun Beale
Duke University School of Law

Paul Butler
The George Washington University
Law School

Deborah W. Denno
Fordham University School of Law

Claire L. Heureux-Dubé
Supreme Court of Canada (retired)
Judge in Residence, Laval University

R.A. Duff
University of Stirling
University of Minnesota

Douglas Husak
Rutgers University at New Brunswick

Sanford H. Kadish
University of California at Berkeley
School of Law

Susan R. Klein
The University of Texas School of Law

Gerard E. Lynch
United States Court of Appeals,
Second Circuit

Tracey Maclin
Boston University School of Law

Holly Maguigan
New York University School of Law

Tracey Louise Meares
Yale Law School

Marc L. Miller
University of Arizona College of Law

Herbert Morris
University of California at Los Angeles School of Law

Stephen J. Morse
University of Pennsylvania Law School

George Mousourakis
University of Auckland, Faculty of Law

Stephen Shute
University of Sussex

Christopher Slobogin
Vanderbilt University Law School

Carol S. Steiker
Harvard Law School

Kate Stith
Yale Law School

George C. Thomas III
Rutgers (Newark) University School of Law

Andrew von Hirsch
Law Faculty, Goethe-University Frankfurt

Ronald F. Wright
Wake Forest University School of Law