ENTREPRENEURIAL BUSINESS
LAW JOURNAL

Volume 5, Number 1, 2010

CONTENTS

Articles

Matthew P. Allen ........................................................................................... 1

Rules of Origin as International Trade Hindrances
Hatem Mabrouk ............................................................................................ 97

Notes

The Employee Free Choice Act: The Effect of Compulsory Interest Arbitration on Entrepreneurs
Mark A. Glumac ........................................................................................ 177

Shares of Thoroughbreds as Securities: Federal and Kentucky Securities Law Implications for Syndication in the Breeding and Racing Contexts
Ryan D. Hill .............................................................................................. 209

The Americans with Disabilities Act Amendments Act: Surpassing the “Economically Significant” Threshold
Abigail Adams Kline .................................................................................. 251

Watter’s About to Run Dry for National Banks Using Operating Subsidiaries to Circumvent Progressive State Consumer Protection Laws
Scott M. Lundregan ................................................................................... 281

“There’s a Change in the Status Quo”: Corporate Veil Piercing in Ohio after Dombroski v. Wellpoint
Mark R. Manning ....................................................................................... 315

Is Bank Secrecy Still Bankable?: A Critical Review of Bank Secrecy Law, Tax Evasion and UBS
Jaclyn H. Schottenstein .............................................................................. 351
Tax-Exempt Organizations are Screaming for Guidance on How to Allocate Indirect Costs Between Related and Unrelated Business Activities – But is Anybody Listening?

Kevin R. Tabor

393

Garnett and Thompson: LLC and LLP Losses No Longer Passive Per Se

Jonathan W. Thomas

421

When Talk Isn’t Cheap: The Hidden Costs of Communication with Putative Class Members for Class Action Defense Counsel in a Post-Financial Recession World

Elizabeth M. Williamson

453

Climate Change: The Real Threat to Delaware Corporate Law, Why Delaware Must Keep a Watchful Eye on the Content of Political Change in the Air

David M. Wilson

481