Target language: Nouns on page 65 of the textbook.

Goals: Keep learning the new words.

Description: Once the students are relatively comfortable with the new vocabulary, they can be asked to quiz/coach each other. The students will work in pairs. The quizzed/coached student, will have their book closed. The other student will have their book open and will be saying the words either in English or in Russian and their partner must translate them. Once the pair go through all the words, they switch roles.

The students must be able to pronounce the words well at this point.

Student copy

You will be working with a partner to see how well you know the new words. One of you will close the book. The other person will have their book open and looking at the words on page 65, he/she will be saying them either in English or in Russian. The student will their book closed must then translate each word (if you hear a word in English, say it in Russian; if you hear a word in Russian, say it in English).

Make sure the words are read in random order! 😊

When you are done with all the words, switch with your partner.
