

Editor's Preface

Beginning with the Winter 1998 issue all matters concerning subscriptions and production for Disability Studies Quarterly is being handled by the national headquarters of the Society, whose address is: Society for Disability Studies, c/o Professor Carol Gill, Department of Disability and Human Development, University of Illinois at Chicago (MC 626), 1640 Roosevelt Road #236, Chicago, IL 60608-6904.

In addition DSQ is now paged continuously through the four print issues. The pagination in the email and disk versions will not conform with the print version.

In September 1994 (three months before his death) Irv Zola began plans to publish Meaningful Relationships/Moments in Time, an autobiographical collection of 21 short stories all of which carry a disability theme. A copy of this treasure may be obtained in exchange for donations ($10 is suggested) to Boston Self Help Center, or to Friends of Howe Library (where Irv's books and papers are being archived for use by the public), or to Disability Studies Quarterly. Send your check to Irv's wife: Judy Norsigian, 43 Waban Hill Rd. N., Newton, MA 02167. Please remember to include your name and address.

This special issue was edited by Shelley Tremain who was the 1997/98 Ed Roberts Postdoctoral Fellow at the World Institute on Disability and the University of California at Berkeley. She is the editor of Pushing the Limits: Disabled Dykes Produce Culture (Toronto: Women's Press) and is now a research consultant at The Rocher Institute in North York, Ontario, Canada.

As is the case for most of our special issues, this one is a ground breaking effort. The authors focus on the intersection of disability, sexuality, gender, race, class, and other important factors which shape and influence our identities. I strongly congratulate Dr. Tremain on her accomplishment in drawing together these articles.
