Subject: The Journal of Amish and Plain Anabaptist Studies (JAPAS) invites manuscripts, both theoretical and empirical, about plain Anabaptist groups for our two issues released annually. While JAPAS has a particular focus on Amish-related research, it also publishes new research addressing the Apostolic Christian, Brethren, Bruderhof, Hutterite, Russian Mennonite, Swiss Mennonite, and closely related Anabaptist traditions. Work in both the sciences and humanities are welcome. We especially encourage works that link to and speak to questions in broader disciplines. We also welcome manuscripts that deepen our understanding of the Amish and plain Anabaptists as a research subject in their own right.

Association: JAPAS is a publication of the Amish & Plain Anabaptist Studies Association (APASA). APASA welcomes scholars, service providers, instructors, and others interested in plain Anabaptists to its membership. Membership is based on a calendar year. Membership benefits include a reduced rate on a print journal subscription, subscription to the APASA email list (regular posts include professional news, events, new books and journal articles, newspaper articles, and more), an invitation to the annual APASA mini-conference, and collegiate support for members’ research endeavors. To join, fill out the application at www.amishstudies.org; annual dues are $30.

Content: JAPAS accepts regular articles, research notes, research briefs (under 1,500 words, especially encouraged for undergraduate / early graduate students), organized symposiums, and essays. The journal seeks to include the empirical research of members from plain Anabaptist communities, who are invited to submit manuscripts for special consideration. Publishers or authors wishing to submit a book for review should contact the editor.

Format: Referencing style is similar to the American Journal of Sociology; see recent issues for examples. Given the multi-disciplinary nature of our subject matter, authors may request in advance to use the Chicago Manual of Style when the above style would force an unnatural fit; a bibliography is still required.

Submissions: All manuscripts should be submitted by email (editor@amishstudies.org) or postal mail: Cory Anderson, 7010 State Route 251, Millersburg, OH 44654. At the time of publication, at least one of the authors must be a member of APASA.

Publishing: The Ohio State University Knowledge Bank publishes the Journal of Amish and Plain Anabaptist Studies bi-annually. The journal is available as open access (http://hdl.handle.net/1811/54889) and in print form with an association membership. As supply remains, individual back issues are $20 each, inclusive of U.S. shipping.
