A SOCIOLOGICAL FANTASY:

"LIMA'S DISAPPEARING UPPER-MIDDLE CLASS!"

I love a good Fantasy!

Story and art by A. Adams

A HIGH POINT OF THE SPRING 1988 LIMA ARTS SEASON WAS THE POPS CONCERT AT THE OLD LOCOMOTIVE WORKS. DAVE AND STELL AND 1700 OTHER MEMBERS OF LIMA'S UPPER-MIDDLE CLASS WERE THERE!

Wow! What a crowd! Everyone from Lima's smart near-west side must be here.

It's true, Dave! Half of Shawnee must be here, too!

Local celebrities are here, too! Look!! Isn't that the famous - but notoriously elusive - down-town developer Cal Merk over there?!

I think it is! And that must be his glamorous wife, Mrs. Merk!

Hi! I'm Cal

So whadya think, could I turn this old place into a theme park?

You could do it, Cal!

DURING THE CONCERT THE LIMA SYMPHONY PLAYED RAILROAD CLASSICS!

Next I think we'll play Choo-Choo San's famous aria from "Madama Butterfly" in which she sings that Pinkerton will one day take the train back to Nagasaki.

What a great orchestra.

A FEW PEOPLE COMPLAINED BECAUSE THE SYMPHONY DIDN'T PLAY THEIR FAVORITE TRAIN TUNES:

So what happened to Offenbach's overture to "Orpheus Rides the Underground"?

(And what about Mahler's "Das Lied von der Eisenbahn"?)

Q. Dookie

Sue

IF YOU DON'T COUNT THESE TWO GRUMPS, THE AUDIENCE ALL LOVED THE CONCERT.

What a great success this concert was!

You said it, Dave! (But the orchestra could have played Mahler's "Song of the Railroad" as an encore!)

Only after the concert was there to be a problem, Dave!

RTA BUSES PICKED UP THE MEMBERS OF THE AUDIENCE AFTER THE CONCERT.

Watch your step!

DESTINATION: UNKNOWN

RTA

The idea was to bus them back to a near-by parking lot where they left their cars.

Sounds like a good plan to me!

BUT SOME HOW THE PLAN WENT WRONG! RTA BUSES TRANSPORTED THE 1700 MEMBERS OF LIMA'S UPPER-MIDDLE CLASS IN ALL DIRECTIONS! SOME BUSES WENT EAST!

Say, wasn't that Bucyrus we just went through?

I think it was! What in the world is happening?

ERT

SOME BUSES SPED SOUTH TO WAPAKONETA! SOME WENT WEST THROUGH THE NIGHT TO VAN WERT! SOME MEMBERS OF LIMA'S U.M.C. PANICKED!

Ohmigawd! We're all being hijacked to South Bend or somewhere!

ON EACH BUS RUMORS FLEW! WHAT WAS HAPPENING? PEOPLE HAD DIFFERENT THEORIES BUT NO ONE KNEW FOR SURE!

I bet this is an unannounced Train-Town excursion to Fort Wayne. We'll take the Amtrak there to Chicago!

No way! This is just another bureaucratic snafu!

It's a joke!

It's a plot!

Where's that RTA going, Mom?

Looks like the 11:15 outbound West Elm to me, Alex. Going to the American Mall!

SOME PEOPLE IMAGINED THE WORST. A CONSPIRACY!

It's a clever ploy to get all us upper-middle-class people out of Lima!

What if you're right! Just imagine the consequences for our town!

Who would go to those Art Association lectures?

No one!

Who would have quiche brunches?

No one!

Who would attend wine and cheese receptions?

No one!

It's too terrible to imagine!!

Argh! No! No!

Wake up, Dave! You're having another sociological fantasy!
