

1969-03

Book Review

The Ohio Journal of Science. v69 n2 (March, 1969), 100-100

<http://hdl.handle.net/1811/5458>

Downloaded from the Knowledge Bank, The Ohio State University's institutional repository

Ohio's Prehistoric Peoples. Martha A. Potter. The Ohio Historical Society, Columbus, Ohio 43210. 1968. vi+76 p. Paper, $2.50.

Martha A. Potter, assistant curator of archaeology, The Ohio Historical Society, is author of a volume which offers a history of the nine Indian cultures which inhabited what is now Ohio, covering from the Palaeo Indian Culture (9000 B. C.) through the Prehistoric Erie and Fort Ancient Indians (A. D. 1650). The publication has 68 drawings by William Turner, Worthington, Ohio, and Raymond S. Baby, curator of archaeology, The Ohio Historical Society, to illustrate the text. Mrs. Thyra B. Kabealo, assistant professor of English, The Ohio State University, is editor.

The paperback booklet is written in non-technical style, without footnotes, and is suitable for use by the student or the novice in the study of Ohio's prehistoric Indians.

OHIO HISTORICAL SOCIETY