

Abril Trigo (right), director of the Center for Latin American Studies, introduced Francisco González (left), Riordan Roett Associate Professor of Latin American Studies at The Johns Hopkins University Paul H. Nitze School of Advanced International Studies, who delivered a lecture at the Mershon Center for International Security Studies on May 25, 2010 as part of the Center's seminar series on Latin America.

Francisco González, Riordan Roett Associate Professor of Latin American Studies at The Johns Hopkins University Paul H. Nitze School of Advanced International Studies, lectured about "The War on Drugs in Mexico: Chronicle of a Failure Foretold" as part of the Mershon Center's Seminar Series on Latin America, co-sponsored by the Center for Latin American Studies.

Francisco González, Riordan Roett Associate Professor of Latin American Studies at The Johns Hopkins University Paul H. Nitze School of Advanced International Studies, fielded a number of questions after his lecture on "The War on Drugs in Mexico: Chronicle of a Failure Foretold." His lecture was part of the Center's Seminar Series on Latin America, co-sponsored by the Center for Latin American Studies.