

OHIO STATE JOURNAL OF CRIMINAL LAW

Volume 18 Number 1 Fall 2020

SYMPOSIUM

The Tools at Hand: Surveillance Innovations and the Shifting Role of Federal Law Enforcement in Drug Control Anne E. Boustead	1
Mandatory Minimum Entrenchment and the Controlled Substances Act Stephanie Holmes Didwania	25
Preemption Up in Smoke: Should States Be Allowed a Voice in Scheduling Under the Controlled Substances Act? Oliver J. Kim	61
Reconsidering Federal Marijuana Regulation Paul J. Larkin, Jr.	99
The Bureaucratic Afterlife of the Controlled Substances Act Lauren M. Ouziel	151
Goodbye Marijuana Schedule 1—Welcome to a Post-Legalization World Melanie Reid	169
The Complex Interplay Between the Controlled Substances Act and the Gun Control Act Dru Stevenson	211
Making Drug-Related Deportability 1914 Again? How a Strict “Categorical Approach” to the CSA Would Eliminate Unpredictable Agency Interpretation of the Immigration and Nationality Act Michael S. Vastine	253
The Federal Judiciary’s Role in Drug Law Reform in an Era of Congressional Dysfunction Erica Zunkel & Alison Siegler	283

Commentary

The Changing Role of the American Prosecutor Jeffrey Bellin	329
Compassionate Capital Mitigation Jesse Cheng	351
Double Jeopardy’s Dual Sovereignty: A Tragic (and Implausible) Lack of Humility Stephen E. Henderson & Dean A. Strang	365

Why Police Have a Legal Duty to Provide Medical Aid to People They Shoot
Kenneth Williams391

Term

Kahler v. Kansas: Ask the Wrong Question, You Get the Wrong Answer
Joshua Dressler409