

WICK EXTRA

Listen to A Sunrise

The first chord breaks like that first glitter to sparkle over the eastern horizon: a beginning, fresh and full of hope for a glorious day. So melodic, ethereal and soothing is the music of "Morning Song"-an assemblage of fine musicians who speak to man's finer, gentler and more positive nature. "Morning Song" hails from those rolling hills of Pennsylvania and they are appearing for your pleasure and delight on Friday October 8 in Room 100 of Morrill Hall-Marion OSU at 8:00 p.m. All are invited to experience the talents of this exceptional group for a nominal charge of $1.50, if you're an I.D. carrying OSU student, or $2.00 if you're without an OSU-MTC I.D.

This electronic-computer age that is the 70's can easily become a torment, but an evening spent filling one's mind, body, and soul with the fine harmonies provided by "Morning Song" will renew your faith in the true beauty and glory of living. What is provided is a balance between the cold technology of our culture and the loving grace of God. To fuse the two one need only immerse oneself in songs like "Love of a Friend", "Growing", "Silent Morning", "There's a Light", "Gentle Thought", and oh so many more!

"Morning Song" is coming and can, if you're open and aware, erase the anguish with which we so often find ourselves obsessed. So, be open and be curious. Come to Morrill Hall Friday, Oct. 8, at 8:00 p.m. for an evening which will introduce you to ecstasy.

ANNOUNCEMENT

For your further enjoyment an October Fest-Halloween Party is being planned for Sat. Oct. 30. Be sure to attend what promises to be the first in a year long series of wild parties for you, the Marion area college student. Further developments will be brought to you via your communication rag-The WICK.

REMEMBER

Classes are cancelled on Monday, October 11 for Columbus Day, and to catch up on delinquent studies.

FURTHER

We of the WICK staff heartily encourage each and every person affiliated with OSU-MTC to submit to Room 211 -Morrill Hall anything of a printable nature. (We reserve the right to evaluate quality) With additional printable items there would be no need for wasted space at the bottom of a page.

Thank You,
