

The Knowledge Bank at The Ohio State University
Ohio State Engineer

Title: Cranks and Countershafts

Issue Date: Oct-1931

Publisher: Ohio State University, College of Engineering

Citation: Ohio State Engineer, vol. 15, no. 1 (October, 1931), 14.

URI: <http://hdl.handle.net/1811/34833>

Appears in Collections: Ohio State Engineer: Volume 15, no. 1 \(October, 1931\)

CRANKS AND COUNTERSHAFTS

"Jimmy" Walker may win out in a clothes decision.

Cleopatra made the emotion; Anthony seconded it.

Daniel Boone was not such a big shot, but he was a good one.

Teacher: "What insect requires the least nourishment?"

Percival: "The moth—it eats holes."

Hoax: "Doesn't Jim the Barber have a serious face?"

Joax: "Well, looking in the mirror at it so often you would hardly expect him to enjoy it."

"So your wife made you install television in your office."

"Yes, she used to be my secretary."

Flappy Flo: "Dad, can I have ten dollars to buy you a birthday present with?"

Dad: "Just consider it bought, dear, and I'll keep the ten dollars."

Wife: "John, the bill collector's at the door."

Hubby: "Tell him to take that pile on the desk."

Minister (to girl strumming a ukulele): "Do you know the Ten Commandments?"

Modern Young Lady: "No, but if you can whistle a few bars I'll try to follow you."

Theatre Owner: "How did the comedian's jokes get across?"

Stage Manager: "Probably on the Mayflower."

"Were you nervous the first time you asked your husband for money?"

"No, I was calm—and collected."

First Millionaire: "This is a workaday world we live in."

Second Millionaire: "Yes, work a day and play golf the other six."

Teacher: "I take great pleasure in giving you 90 in English."

Pupil: "Aw, make it a 100 and enjoy yourself."

Irate father: "Why were you kissing my daughter in that dark corner last night?"

Dubious Youth: "Now that I've seen her in daylight I sort of wonder myself."

Usher: "Seat in the orchestra, madam?"

Old Lady: "No, I don't play an instrument."

Reporter (after show): "The vice squad were here, waiting for you."

Texas Guinan: "Oh, what use are vice squads? They're like vice presidents. They never do anything."

She: "Yes, I will be yours on one condition."

He: "That's all right; I entered State with five."

When ice-cream grows on macaroni trees,
When Sahara's sands grow muddy,
When cats and dogs wear B.V.D.'s,
That's the time I like to study.

"Cant-i-lever?" asked the plaintiff.

"Just a moment," said the judge, "you must support her."

Co-ed: "Have you any invisible hairpins?"

Clerk: "Certainly."

Co-ed: "May I see one?"

He: "I don't know what to do with my weekend."

She: "Put a hat on it to keep it from catching cold."

Co: "I think I have a cold or something in my head."

Ed: "Probably a cold."

Jones: "My wife was run down."

Brown: "Neighbors, autos, or disease?"

Editor's Wife: "John, little Billy just split our neighbor's skull with an axe."

Tabloid Editor: "Don't talk shop."

—C. C. N. Y. Mercury.

Judge: "What's the charge?"

Victim: "He stole my Austin—the pickpocket."

—Postage and the Mailbag.

Sarah: "Before we were married you swore you would never look at another woman."

Harry: "That was only a campaign promise."

—Laffngaz.

Macbeth: "Make haste old women, make haste."

The Three Witches: "All right, Mac, all right; we'll be witcha' in a minute."—Colgate Banter.

"An Outline of Modern Knowledge," edited by William Rose, is specially written by 22 of the world's leading authorities in their respective fields.

"My Father, Mark Twain," by Clara Clemens, is the newest biography of the beloved author. This is the story of his life as told by one who should know.

Bertrand Russell has stepped to the front again with his vision of a scientific world in "The Scientific Outlook." One of his expressions is "God made the world, but science made it over."

This smacks of adventure, "Alarms and Excursions in Arabia," by Bertram Thomas.

Every year is 1492 in telephone making

Raw material from the far corners of the world.

It's always the era of exploration in telephone work. New manufacturing processes are being developed, new sources of raw materials found, new methods originated for distributing telephone supplies . . . New kinds of apparatus are being built to meet the needs of a rapidly changing world. Take communication products for example. Western Electric makes equipment for aviation, for police radio, for ship-to-shore telephony . . . Intensely interesting, this work is. There is in it the spirit of the adventurer, of the pioneer. The same spirit runs through all of Western Electric's many-sided activities—serving the Bell System in the triple capacity of manufacturer, purchaser and distributor.

The modern pilot telephones the ground.

No anchoring to tradition, here.

Western Electric

Manufacturers . . . Purchasers . . . Distributors

SINCE 1882 FOR THE BELL SYSTEM

