

William Brustein, Vice Provost for Global Strategies and International Affairs at The Ohio State University, participates in the panel discussion, "The Arab Spring: Developments in North Africa and the Middle East," on November 3, 2011 at the Mershon Center for International Security Studies

Joshua Stacher, Professor of Political Science at Kent State University, speaks at the Mershon Center for International Security Studies on November 3, 2011, as part of the panel discussion, "The Arab Spring: Developments in North Africa and the Middle East."

Sabra Webber, Acting Chair of Near Eastern Languages and Cultures at The Ohio State University, speaks at the Mershon Center for International Security Studies on November 3, 2011, as part of the panel discussion, "The Arab Spring: Developments in North Africa and the Middle East."

Members of the audience listen to the panel discussion, "The Arab Spring: Developments in North Africa and the Middle East," on November 3, 2011 at the Mershon Center for International Security Studies.

From left to right: Alam Payind, Director of the Middle East Studies Center, Hassan Aly, Professor of Economics, Sabra Webber, Acting Chair of Near Eastern Languages and Cultures, and Joshua Stacher, Professor of Political Science at Kent State University.