

Leonard Smith, Frederick B. Artz Professor of History at Oberlin College

Leonard Smith, Frederick B. Artz Professor of History at Oberlin College, spoke to about 50 people on "Who Gets to be a People?: Reconfiguring the Ottoman Empire in the King-Crane Commission Report of 1919" on Monday, January 28, 2008, at the Mershon Center for International Security Studies.

Leonard Smith's lecture was part of the Empire History Lecture Series, organized by Geoffrey Parker (left), Andreas Dorpalen Professor of history, and Alice Conklin (right), Associate Professor of History.