I/S: A JOURNAL OF LAW AND POLICY FOR THE INFORMATION SOCIETY is an interdisciplinary journal of research and commentary concentrating on the intersection of law, policy, and information technology. I/S was founded in 2004 as a one-of-a-kind partnership between one of America's leading law schools, The Ohio State University Moritz College of Law, and the nation's foremost public policy school focused on information technology, Carnegie Mellon University's Heinz College.

SUBMISSIONS: I/S is devoted to publishing outstanding research and writing that addresses the legal and policy aspects of e-government and e-democracy, cybersecurity, online privacy and public information policy, e-commerce, information technology and economic development, telecommunications regulation, or any other aspect of the social, economic, political, or cultural implications of information technology. We welcome submissions from all relevant disciplines, including law and business, engineering and science, the social sciences, and the humanities—so long as the manuscript addresses its topic in its legal or policy aspects.

Volumes 1-10 of I/S comprise three issues per volume. I/S now publishes two issues per volume, beginning with Volume 11. One issue is devoted to papers presented at the previous year's annual I/S symposium, focusing on a major issue or theme at the intersection of law, policy, and new information, communication and computing technologies. The other issue includes the very best of the unsolicited manuscripts we receive on subjects within the I/S subject matter domain.

I/S welcomes unsolicited manuscripts in four categories: full-length research articles (typically around 10,000 words); shorter, less formal commentaries that address cutting-edge policy topics related to information and communication technology ("ICT") and society (typically no more than 5000 words), student research, and book reviews.

Because our examination of unsolicited manuscripts entails a combination of student and professional review, it is helpful if manuscripts proposed for publication in any given academic year reach us by June 1 of the preceding academic year. Inquiries concerning format, topic, or anything else may be forwarded to I/S at any time.
