

We're Just Bacon and Eggs

Joshua Long

All I know is I wake up and you're in my clothes saying you wanted to carry me and the smell of my anxiety around with you and you started making waffle batter and then we started talking about bacon

Then I woke up and realized none of that was real And all I knew was that the smell of you was on a jacket I wore every night of the week a few weeks ago and it drifted off when there was a goodbye an off-center hug which left me feeling alright about my balance and my feelings on highway driving and then I saw you in my mind's eyes again and I fell back asleep and when I slept you were with me always and always talking about bacon.
