In 1989 Serbia spent $1,750,000 for Kosovo monuments, $50,000 of which was to restore Zica.

The next 33 slides are of the monastery Ljibostina, foundation of Princess Milica, wife of Czar Lazar, it was built from 1389 - 1406 north of Trstenik on the bank of the River Ljubostinjska. It is dedicated to the Assumption of the Virgin Mary. It is operated by 50 nuns. Carica Milica became a nun here on 11-11-1405. She became sister Eugenia - monahinja Agenija. In 1904 King Peter I opened her grave and her body was found wholly intact - there was no decomposition -

The opening to the right was covered by plaster and frescoes. Carica Milica hid the Monastery treasure here. There were icons, the Royal crown and other items all of which the Turks discovered when they burned the Monastery in 1789. The Godless Turks stole all of these treasures and they are now in a museum in Istanbul.

Taj otvor na desno je bio pokriven sa flasterom i freskama. Carica Milica je sakrila našu krunu, ikone i drugo blago tu i kad su uni bezbozni muslimane zapalili monastir u 1789 godinu, sve su našli i odnijeli u Istanbul gdje i danas su stalno na izlozbu u muzejju.

Construction material for Konak
 On side of Monastery

Raca Monastery was built in about 1300 by Kralj Dragutin, brother of King Milutin, near Bajina Basta na Drine
 u zapadne Srbije uz Bosnu.

This Monastery was instrumental in saving Serbia from Muslimism.

Serbia is spending in 1989 + 1990 - $800,000 - building a new 4 story Konak (dormitory), museum
 + office building.
