Announcement of
 RESIGNATION OF BUSINESS MANAGER

It is with deepest personal regret that I announce the resignation of Dr. David H. Stansbery from the position of Business Manager (Secretary-Treasurer) of The Ohio Journal of Science. His contributions to the Journal, first as Editor-in-Chief (July 1962–November 1964) and then as Business Manager (November 1965–November 1968), have been outstanding—in terms of designing a much more efficient editorial procedure, of getting the Journal back on its feet in a difficult period, and of serving the Journal quietly and efficiently throughout a period of more than five years—service which has been greatly appreciated by both the Editor and the Joint Administrative Board. This note publicly acknowledges our indebtedness to him.

To fill this vacancy, the Journal has been most fortunate in being able to obtain Dr. George H. Crowl, of the Geology Department, Ohio Wesleyan University, Delaware. Under his very competent direction, we should be able to continue to move ahead and to produce an outstanding journal.

JANE L. FORSYTH, Editor
