Time to drag out the pencils and triangles. It's too early to tell who will be back and who will be starting with Elements, but we have heard a few rumors about the place.

* * * *

Mr. Paul Fletcher has been added to our force of instructors.

* * * *

Mr. Ronan has been abroad this summer, probably picking up more first-hand information for his History class.

The younger half of the feminine architects must have been scared out. Ida Schlaefley has transferred to Fine Arts while Jane Ames has transferred to Fine Arts at the University of Illinois.

* * * *

Bob Schomer and Innocenzi managed to finish their college careers during the summer quarter. Latham and Stritmatter got themselves married at commencement time. (You probably knew that.) Wonder if they are managing to support their wives. Al Krebs, with his degree in Architectural Engineering, is selling, or trying to sell real estate. Among those who will not be present this fall are Bob Scott and Harry Lumsden.

Ruth Morris has taken Martha VanAtta's place as Librarian and Bobby still reigns supreme in the office.

We wonder:

Who will take over the confectionery business in the middle drafting room.

Who will run the library in the evenings.

Who will render Shuttleworth's design problems.

Who will hang the problems for judgments.

How Richard III is getting along.
