The Honorable Han Duk-soo is Korean ambassador to the United States and former prime minister of the Republic of Korea.

During his distinguished career in government, Ambassador Han has made many contributions to the development and modernization of the Korean economy, including serving as minister of finance and economy, minister of government policy coordination, minister of trade, and senior secretary to the president for policy and planning. Deregulation, market opening and strengthening of the market economy have been the three pillars of his philosophy and framework for the economic policy of Korea.

Ambassador Han earned a B.A. in economics from Seoul National University, and an M.A. and Ph.D. in economics from Harvard University.

Co-sponsored by the East Asian Studies Center and Department of History. For more information including an event flyer (pdf), visit http://easc.osu.edu/pdfs/events/Ambassador\_Han.pdf.
