THROUGH THE TRANSIT

With Nick

Joe College—"Are you quite comfortable, dear?"

Betty Coed—"Yes, love."

Joe College—"Are the cushions nice and soft?"

Betty Coed: "Yes, love."

Joe College: "No drafts blowing on my sweet-heart?"

Betty Coed—"No, love."

Joe College: "That's nice. Now change places with me."

"So your boy friend is a letter carrier?"

"Yes, he carries it for a week before he mails it."

"Got a nail in your tire?"

"No, just ran over a fork in the road."

"My father came to this country with only a dime in his pockets."

"Why, I thought your father was rich in the old country."

"He was, but he met a blonde on the way over."

When a driver keeps his eyes glued to the road he can't expect a girl to stick to him.

A patient in a hospital awoke after an operation and found the blinds of his room drawn.

"Why are these blinds down, doctor?" he asked.

"Well," said the doctor, "there's a fire across the street and I didn't want you to wake up and think the operation had been a failure."

Harriet—"Don't you love driving on a night like this?"

Harry: "Yes, but I thought I would wait until we got further out in the country."

A girl can be very sweet when she wants.

Many a trusting girl has given away her soul and in return gotten only a heel.

"I'm losing my punch," he said, as he left the cocktail party in a hurry.

Some people throw their junk in the alley, but others buy an automobile license for it.

"My roommate says there are some things a girl should not do before twenty."

"Well, personally, I don't enjoy a large audience either."

A police surgeon in Chicago says one is sober if he is able to say "Susie sat in the soup."

The one we wonder about is Susie.

"It's so hard to find an honest landlady," quotes the industrial engineer. "The last one I had took six of my best towels—those lovely ones we brought back from the Fort Pitt."

Judge—"Why do you always insist upon breaking into homes on the second floor?"

Burglar: "That's my story and I'm going to stick to it."

Director—"This is certainly a play that won't tire the audience."

Member of the Cast—"You're darned right. It won't get a chance to."

Boy (driving girl home)—"How far do you live?"

Girl—"In the nineteenth block."

Boy—"Thanks. I always like to know how far I can go with a girl."

Old Lady (as car gives a jolt)—"Was that a serious accident, conductor?"

Conductor—"Not to us, madam; the car just ran over a dog."

Old Lady—"Was it on the track?"

Conductor—"No, we chased him up an alley."

Chemical—"Lulu stepped on my pet bunion during the last dance. Gosh, what a pain!"

Ditto—"Isn't she, though?"

"Should I marry a girl who can take a joke?"

"That's the only kind you'll get."

Judge—(to Jury)—"Gentlemen, have you reached your verdict?"

Foreman—"If your honor please, the jury is all of one mind—temporarily insane."

Teacher—Johnny, can you name something that goes on and on without end.

Johnny—Closing out sales of clothing stores.

Cab Driver—What are you growling about? You said you wanted to get to the hospital in a hurry, didn't you?

Passenger—Yes, I did. But I didn't say I wanted to stay there.

YOUNG REPORTER STARTS JOURNALISTIC REVOLUTION!

It happened in Salem, Mass., on February 12, 1877. The young reporter attended a demonstration of inventor Bell's new telephone—then "talked" his story to his paper in Boston by telephone!

Though he didn't realize it, he was inaugurating a new era in journalism. For today's newspapers could hardly exist without the telephone.

Gathering and spreading news with lightning speed is just one of the telephone's countless contributions to modern life. And 300,000 Bell System people strive constantly to make the service still better, still more useful.

Why not telephone home oftener? Rates to most points are lowest after 7
P. M. and all day Sunday.
