

Henry Nau of the Elliott School of International Affairs at The George Washington University, gave the Joseph J. Kruzel Memorial Lecture on April 10, 2015, at the Mershon Center. The lecture honors Joseph J. Kruzel, an Ohio State faculty member in political science who was killed in Sarajevo, Bosnia, in 1995 while serving as deputy assistant secretary of defense for European and NATO affairs.

Henry Nau spoke about his paper on "Ideas Cause Circumstances: A 'republican' not 'social' Constructivist Grand Strategy."

Henry Nau's latest book, Conservative Internationalism: Armed Diplomacy Under Jefferson, Polk, Truman, and Reagan, was published in August 2013 by Princeton University Press. Here Nau (left) holds up a copy with Mershon Center Director Craig Jenkins.
